Erica's rich background in coaching and consulting spans groups as diverse as a UN conference, front-line leaders, correctional officers and inmates, C-suite executives, state humanities councils and more. All of her sessions have two things in common: 1) the learning experiences are effective and tailored to their goals and 2) each participant feels like they are the most important person in the room.

Prior to working exclusively as a coach and consultant, Erica served as Regional Program Director for a social entrepreneurship organization recognized by FastCompany for its innovation in college access. There she cultivated a team of front line leaders, contract staff and over a thousand volunteers toward exceptional results for the region. As an accomplished leader and consultant, she brings passion, relevant experience, and creativity to teams and organizations.

Extensive facilitation practice allows Erica to move effortlessly from the boardroom to the front line. She brings a powerful mixture of engagement, diverse experience, and inspiration that helps clients gain insight and achieve, or often exceed their most meaningful goals.
