

Mohit Mukherjee

HIGHLIGHTS

Leadership roles in non-profit, corporate and higher education

Completed his first sprint triathlon – now training for an olympic tri

Founded a Center that now has more than 3,500 alumni

4 different passports held between Mohit, his wife and two daughters

15 years of working with global executives and facilitating in English, Spanish and French

Mohit Mukherjee is a Senior Consultant at FranklinCovey and the Founding Director of the Center for Executive Education at the University for Peace, established by the United Nations.

His work experience includes management consulting, leading a global non-profit, managing a private-public partnership, developing bootcamps for entrepreneurs, teaching higher education and founding an Executive Education program. He has worked in the U.S., India, Ecuador, Mexico and Costa Rica. Recent clients include VMWare, P&G, Nestle, Akamai and the UN in Haiti. Mohit finds that leaders who create the conditions for well-being in their teams enjoy the journey more and also get better results.

Mohit did his Bachelor's degree in Industrial Engineering from Stanford University and his Master at Harvard University. He lives with his wife and two teenage daughters in Florida. He is a keen tennis player.

CERTIFIED TO DELIVER

- Unconscious Bias™