

Executive Coach

Matthew Temple

Naples, Florida

Matthew has twenty years of impressive reach and impact as an executive coach, facilitator, and consultant. His previous experience in investment banking, consulting, corporate development, and tech enables him to understand the cultures and dynamics of many industries and functions.

Matthew serves as the Senior Director of Alumni Career & Professional Development for the Kellogg School of Management, managing a team of twelve who deliver career and executive coaching, workshops, and webinars to 70,000 alumni. Previously, Matthew worked in Private Equity and M&A for Credit Suisse and in Corporate Finance for Deutsche Bank. He served as Director of International Business Development for Ask.com, establishing, managing, and staffing joint ventures worth over $200 million in Asia, Europe, and Latin America. He started his career as a consultant at Accenture and has lived and worked in Hong Kong and London.

As an executive coach with global influence, Matthew's patience and endless positivity provide for immediate connection and focused solutions. He can quickly establish trust, help clients break patterns, and embark on transformational change.

Education & Certifications

- B.A. in History from Harvard University
- M.B.A. in Finance and Marketing from Kellogg School of Management
- Other Credentials: Hogan Leadership Series, MBTI, DiSC, Enneagram, Gallup CliftonStrengths, Birkman

What clients say about Matthew

"After exhausting every option internally, we engaged Matthew to provide one on one coaching for a key leader in our organization. Matthew was chosen not only based on his vast experience as a coach and business leader but for his innate ability to connect with people. He's empathetic while at the same time holds people accountable. To put it simply, Matthew is masterful at communication, which is built on a foundation of integrity."
President, Manufacturing Company

"What really matters are results. We had a unique issue that needed resolution; Matthew delivered. The results were nothing short of a miracle!"
Vice President, National Homebuilder

Highlights

Facilitated over 500 workshops, programs, and strategic planning sessions globally

Serves as a Coach in Executive Education programs at Harvard Business School

Coached senior leaders in Asia, Europe, Middle East, Latin America, and North America

Served on the Harvard Alumni Association Board and on the Advisory Board of iRelaunch

Jeopardy champion and diehard Red Sox fan who has traveled to 100+ countries, 50 states, and 30 baseball stadiums